Introduction

1. I ought to love my Sav - ior! No earth - ly friend can be
2. He left His home in glo - ry, To save my soul from death:
3. It is but very lit - tle, For Him that I can do:
4. And when I reach the man - sion, He has pre - pared for me,

11

One half so kind and faith - ful, As He has been to me.
And now in all life's dan - gers, He still sus - tains my breath.
Then let me seek to serve Him, My earth - ly jour - n - ey through;
'Twill be my grate - ful pleas - ure, My Sav - ior's face to see,

Be - fore my lips could ut - ter His sweet and prec - ious name,
 I lay me down and slum - ber All thro' the hours of night;
 And with - out sigh or murm - ur, To do His ho - ly will:
 And 'mid the ang - el's mus - ic, Which then will great my ear,

Un - til the pres - ent mom - ent, His love has been the same.
 And wake a - gain in safe - ty, To hail the morn - ing light.
 And in my dai - ly du - ties, His wise commands full - fill.
 How ea - ger - ly I'll list - en, My Sav - iors voice to hear.

Refrain

I ought to love my Sav - ior, My prec - ious, prec - ious, Sav - ior I ought to love my Sav - ior. He loves me well I know.

31
